Andover's Moderator Trying For Governor

Fred Butler, by entering the primary election battle for the governorship nomination for the Republican party, is the first Andover man in nearly two decades to become a statewide political figure. Although handicapped by lack of funds which have been available for his two opponents, he has been waging an intensive campaign which hasn't been given much of a play by Boston newspapers but which nevertheless has reached a good many voters.

Well-known in Andover as the town meeting moderator and in Essex county as county commissioner, Fred hopes to poll a large plurality in this section.

Gonna Hold Barn Dance at Country Club

To you city slickers, it may look jest like a big bunch of hicks that goes up inter the Caountry Club on Saturday night, but we reckon you'll change yer minds when yer see them thar youngsters do the Shag, and Yam, and the Lambeth Walk instead of the Virginy Reel, and so forth. It's this group of younger members of the club that's gonna hold an old-fashioned barn dance, and by gum, it looks like they're gonna have a right good time, in their farmer's overalls, straws in their teeth and all. They've been fixin' the club all up, with cornstalks, punkins and the like, and even their eats is gonna be good, old-fashioned fallish farmish.

Manslaughter Case Out As Woman Improves

The police received some welcome news Monday from the Lawrence General Hospital, where Mrs. Marie Houle of Manchester, N. H., has been lying semi-conscious at times since August 20, when she was injured in an altercation with her escort after a dance in Shawsheen Village. Monday the hospital reported that her name had finally been removed from the danger list, and police made ready to question her to prepare their case of assault against the 31 year old painter. Two weeks ago on a Saturday night, hospital authorities had to report that things looked black, that she might not survive the next day. She pulled through, thus saving the town another manslaughter case.

Submit Petition on Pine St. Job

As plans went ahead rapidly this week for the coming town meeting, another petition for a special article was submitted, this one for a sewer in the Pine street section. At the same time another petition is now being circulated for the establishment of a cemetery in West Andover at the Lithuanian Farm. This latter matter requires two preliminary steps, first the approval of the state department of health on the drainage and secondly a public hearing before the local board of health. The land in question consists of ten acres between Greenwood road and Chandler road.

W. P. A. approval of the Pine street project and the County road water project has not yet been asked for, it is understood. It usually takes eight weeks to obtain the final approval.

While no announcement has been made as yet about the projects to be brought before the coming meeting, both public and official sentiment is leaning away from such projects as gravel roads and brush-cutting and toward such things as water and sewer extensions. If gravel road work and cutting back brush are carried on hereafter they will probably be done as filler projects in the winter when more substantial jobs cannot be handled inexpensively.

Samuel H. Bailey, Former Selectman And Representative, Reaches 90th Birthday

A tall, thin man who looked very much as if he could still go out and mow a field of hay without any trouble, was the center of attention Sunday down at the Bailey home on Porter road. Samuel H. Bailey was observing his ninetieth birthday, and his many relatives with many friends, including fellow-members of the Grange, the Odd Fellows, the Rebekahs and the Masons, came down to wish him health and happiness. Many bouquets of flowers decorated the little living-room which overflowed with well-wishers.

Off to one side there's a little room in which hang two pictures, the committee on agriculture of the state legislature in 1914 and 1915. At the top is the picture of Samuel H. Bailey, eminently fitted for his position on the committee by virtue of having been born in West Parish and having spent most of his days in farming. He was a charter member of the Grange, and a past master. For ten or more years he had served the town of Andover as a selectman. Little wonder then that Speaker of the House Channing Cox urged him to return to the legislature in 1916.

In 1885 Mr. Bailey moved to Porter road, the old Abbott house, his second wife being the former Elizabeth Abbott. By his first wife he had two children, Alma and Louise. Alma, deceased, had been Mrs. Albert Hildreth; Louise is the wife of Rep. Herbert L. Trull of North Tewksbury. By his second wife there were two more children, Ralph and Helen, now Mrs. Gordon R. Cannon.

Most of Mr. Bailey's own descendants and his sister, Mrs. Frank Fitzgerald and her children of South Sudbury, gathered at the homestead Sunday before the Club groups arrived. During the day they witnessed motion pictures taken at the 80th and 85th birthday observances. In the morning, from the pulpit of the South Church, Rev. Frederick B. Noss extended the felicitations of the church to his fine old parishioner.

Little Nancy Hoyt, just two, a great grandchild, was the only living descendant not present Sunday. her parents thinking the excitement and crowd might not be good for her. But there were present the following grandchildren: Mrs. Elizabeth Hildreth Jones, Mrs. Helen D. Phillips, Stuart Bailey Hildreth, all of Westford; Mrs. Alice Trull Hoyt of Newton Center; Gordon Bailey Cannon of Andover; great grandchildren Richard, Doris and Shirley Rice; Barbara and Donald Phillips; Carter and Barbara Hoyt; Helen Doris Hildreth.

For Representative

Gordon R. Cannon, candidate for representative, was born in Lawrence and moved here in 1897, graduating from Phillips Academy in 1902. After a year in practical mining, he joined his father in teaching and conducting Cannon's commercial college. He has taught Sunday school classes and been interested in Scouts. He is a past master of the Blue Lodge of Masons, and of the Lawrence Council of Masons, and past commander of the Knights of Templars. He is a member of the Grange and the South Church.

An active Republican, he has been a precinct officer for many years. In 1936 he was elected to the state convention, and in the fall primaries he was requested to run on stickers for representative by the Lawrence Republican city committee. He polled a large vote in November of that year.

For Representative

Peter Joseph Dugan of 150 Bailey street, Lawrence, is a former resident of Andover, and is at present employed by Phillips Academy at the gymnasium. He was brought up here and educated in the local schools. He enlisted in the Navy and saw duty overseas, being aboard the U. S. S. Vernon when it was torpedoed. He is married and has four children, two of whom are attending the academy. He states: "The only qualified experience that is needed for this office is honesty, common sense and proper consideration for the taxpayers."

For Representative

James J. Darby is the only Andover resident campaigning for the Democratic nomination for representative. He states: "The fact that there are 18 candidates from South Lawrence makes this an excellent opportunity for Andover to be represented in the General Court by a native son. If I am given the support of the entire Democratic voters of Andover it is obvious this end can be attained for the first time in a good many years."

He was born in Andover, the son of the late Thomas Darby and Mary (Harkin) Darby. He attended the local public schools. Engaged locally in the trucking business, he resides with his mother at 94 Maple avenue.

For Representative

Cornelius Twomey is one of the most likely of the South Lawrence Democrats seeking the representative nomination. Born in Lawrence 30 years ago, he graduated from Lawrence High in 1925 and from Bentley School of Accounting and Finance in 1929. He is now in his second year at Suffolk Law School. He is married and has one son.

He was elected a delegate to the Democratic convention in 1934 and in 1936, in the latter year topping the district. He has been in the ice and fuel oil business for the last eight years.

For County Commissioner

Wallace Bell of Lawrence, brother of David Bell of Magnolia avenue, is the only candidate for county commissioner on the Republican ticket who has run for this position before. He ran in 1932, 1934 and 1936, placing second to the nominee in each instance.

For Representative

Attorney Peter W. Connors of South Lawrence is campaigning for the Democratic nomination for representative, and he has a strong local committee working for him. He worked for 12 years in the Lawrence mills, studying law nights, and for the past four years he has been a practicing attorney, following his graduation from Suffolk Law School. He advocates increased weekly benefits for the unemployed under the unemployment compensation act.

EXPECT LARGEST ENROLLMENT AT SCHOOL

A former pupil of the Locke Private School wishes a correction made concerning Miss Locke's School in the item submitted to the Townsman last week about the Briggs Allen School. The Principal of the Locke School was Miss Clara Locke instead of Miss Louise Locke. Miss Locke's grand niece, Abby Castle, will be a new teacher at the Briggs Allen School which opens with its largest enrollment since it has been on Abbot street, on Monday, September 19. Transportation is furnished upon request.

Candidates Answer League's Questionnaire

Only four candidates for representative, all of them Republican, answered the questionnaire recently sent out by the local League of Women Voters to all candidates. They were William Beaulieu, Gordon Cannon, Peter Dugan and Paul L'Antigua.

The answers follow:

1. Do you favor (a) retention of the present law giving absolute preference to veterans on eligible lists in the civil service? (b) modification of the present law to provide a bonus of 5 points for able-bodied veterans and 10 points for disabled veterans? (c) abolition of veteran preference so that all candidates for civil service positions compete on an equal basis?

Beaulieu: I favor modification. L'Antigua: as a youth who feels that war is a service and service a duty, I believe in modification (choice b, above). Cannon: veterans in office or World War, or Spanish War? There are many new phases coming up constantly. For all three choices, the answer is efficiency. Dugan: (a) No. There are a lot of young men that were not old enough to serve in the war that are being deprived of their rights to civil service jobs. (b) Yes, No preference should be given to able-bodied veterans, because he has already received a bonus from the Government. As for a disabled veteran the Government should take care of him. (c) Yes.

2. Do you favor civil service appointment of women being made entirely on the basis of merit regardless of economic or marital status? Beaulieu: I do. L'Antigua: unemployment conditions could be greatly relieved if married women, living in comfortable circumstances, gave some concern to the plight of those who are close to poverty, before they accepted civil service positions. Cannon: economic, yes; marital, no two of family in same or allied division. Dugan: No. Where women are married and their husbands are holding good positions I believe the jobs should be left to the single women only.

3. Do you favor jury service for women? Beaulieu: Yes. Cannon: As for judgment, yes; as for morality on criminal, no. Dugan: Yes. As a voter and a taxpayer she is entitled to equal rights.

4. Do you favor a general sales and use tax? Beaulieu: No. Cannon: I would have to give this subject more study to see if the so-called hidden taxes on the necessities of life could be eliminated. Dugan: No. At present I think the people are staggering under too much taxes.

5. Do you favor special courts for juvenile offenders? Beaulieu: Yes. L'Antigua:...a worthwhile contribution to the betterment of society. Cannon: Yes. Dugan: Yes, as no child of minor years should be compelled to have his name spread on court records as a criminal when he has only committed a minor offense against the law.

6. Do you favor retention of the present savings bank life insurance laws? Beaulieu: Yes. Cannon: Question of limit. Not committed. Dugan: Yes, as it is a saving to anybody that cares to take advantage of this form of Life Insurance.

7. Do you believe that the teachers' oath law should be repealed? Beaulieu: No. L'Antigua: I believe in deportation of all aliens who openly show disrespect to our flag and constitution, but I can not see the effectiveness of a bill requiring teachers to take an oath to teach good Americanism when after all investigations of subversive activities show that oaths mean little to communists. Cannon: This question should go to referendum. Dugan: No. I believe all oaths taken should be lived up to.

8. Which do you favor, and which do you oppose of the recommendations proposed by the Special Commission appointed to investigate so-called subversive activities in Massachusetts? Beaulieu: I fully agree with this commission. I think they did a good job. L'Antigua: I feel certain that no party has done more toward making the people communistic-minded than the Democratic party...If we are to investigate those people who secretly flout the Constitution and seek to overthrow our institutions, then let us launch a campaign of investigation against the party which has openly disregarded the Bill of Rights and has openly directed assaults against the...Constitution. Cannon: In my opinion a full report of the Dies investigation will greatly influence these recommendations. Dugan: Not knowing what the commission has recommended I cannot answer.

Both Cannon and L'Antigua qualified their answers with:

Cannon: If I am elected to represent in General court the people of my district I will legislate for the wish and benefit of the majority of the District so far as I am able to ascertain their desires regardless of my own opinion.

L'Antigua: ...if elected to the position I seek, when questions arise of which I am not certain how my constituents wish me to vote, I will endeavor to have them convey me their direction.

James S. White, 79 Stevens street, and George F. Riley of County road received slight injuries this morning when the car which White was driving skidded into the rear of a car driven by Denonville Croteau of Lawrence as it was turning into Phillips street from Main street.

For District Attorney

Hugh H. Cregg, in seeking the renomination as District Attorney for Essex County made the following statement:

For eight years I have been your District Attorney. The records show that during that time crime has decreased and that the wanton law breaker finds no refuge in this County. The voters must realize that no matter how hard police departments work, without the complete co-operation and confidence of the Prosecutor their work is in vain. An example of the efficiency of the incumbent is evidenced by the fact that during the past eight years I have approximately successfully handled, in your behalf, 15,000 cases, with a reduction and saving to the taxpayers of $240,000.00. This saving, however, has not been obtained at any disregard nor leniency for those who break the law.

In these troubled times it is beneficial to the people that a man with years of experience as district attorney stay in office. No district attorney, if he has been a good one, can be in office too long. It has been the custom in the Commonwealth to return to office for many terms district attorneys who have done their work well.

Mrs. Ada Brown of Elm street, and Mrs. James Weeks of North Andover enjoyed a motor trip to Rockport on Sunday.

Miss Evelyn Robinson, junior librarian at Memorial Hall, will speak at West Boxford tomorrow night on "Children's Books" at the Catherine Ingalls Memorial Library.

For County Commissioner

In announcing his candidacy for County Commissioner, C. F. Nelson Pratt states: I have had nine years' experience in town government—three as School Committee member, six as Selectman, three as Chairman; eight years' experience in State government—in the Massachusetts Legislature as Representative of Lynn, Lynnfield and Saugus, serving on the following committees: Power and Light, Banks and Banking, Education, and Acting Chairman of the Committee on Counties. I have had a business training of twelve years as an executive in the shoe industry. I am also a graduate of Boston University Law School. In 1933 I was Code Representative for the National Shoeworkers' Association and represented this Union at all NRA hearings. In 1934 and 1936 I was the Republican nominee for Congress in the Seventh District, polling over 51,000 votes in 1936, the largest vote ever cast for any Republican in this district.

Lt. Gov. Kelly Runs For Governor Too Fast

Officer Bill Stewart was nearly ready to go off duty Sunday night when he saw a couple of cars allegedly coming along at a fast clip from Lawrence. He stepped out, and blew his whistle, but the cars kept thundering along. Bill ran over to the shanty in the village square and called officer George Waldie in Andover square. George ran out, spotted the cars, and blew his whistle, but the cars kept thundering along.

George took down the number, not a hard one to remember, "S-3". It was Lieutenant-Governor Kelly's car, he of the many promises who aspires to the governorship. Then the local police called the state police and asked them to get the name of Kelly's chauffeur.

The next morning the Boston papers were hot on the trail of a story, for it was reported that both Kelly and his chauffeur denied being in Andover Sunday night. One of the local correspondents recalled seeing a Kelly truck near the Recreation ballroom in Lawrence Sunday evening, and he called Roy Hardy, one of Recreation's managers, who reported that the lieutenant governor, sure enough, had spoken from 10 to 11 at the Recreation. In fact WBZ had carried the broadcast. Obviously, then, sometime after eleven Mr. Kelly had gone from Lawrence to his home in Dorchester, and the best route is not through Lowell or Haverhill, especially if you're in a hurry.

The evening papers gave the story quite a bit of space, the lieutenant-governor, his chauffeur and the governor himself all having given accounts of their movements. His Excellency had been brought into it by a mistaken report from some state authority about the names of chauffeurs, but the Governor had been spending the night in public view down Cambridge way. The Lieutenant-Governor, one story read, said that he couldn't have been in Andover at 11:45 because he was at home at 11:30, which probably was a garbled story. If it had been true, police might have wondered just how he could have arrived in Dorchester one-half hour after he finished speaking in Lawrence. But the other story said that he had stayed behind visiting friends in Lawrence, arriving home in their car quite a bit later. The chauffeur, in a prepared statement, said that he had traveled through Andover, that with him were friends and not the second-in-command, that it couldn't have been he that the local officers saw because he wasn't going fast, that it was very funny such charges come out just before election.

Chief Dane looked over the facts, notified Registrar Frank Goodwin.

Stoneleigh's Last Day

Proves Its Last Day

George Sellars—you local theatre goers remember the family—served his special fifty cent baked bean supper last Saturday night down at Stoneleigh-on-the-By-pass, and then prepared to close up for the season. Some of the things were moved out to the shed in back, but when he left for home not much had been moved.

The next morning the job was done. George didn't have anything more to move. Shortly before five a truck-driver rode along the by-pass, noticed flames pouring out of the roof. He went to the state police barracks, and the trooper called the Andover and North Andover departments, the latter not responding since Stoneleigh is over the line in Andover. Box 37 was sounded and the local department made the long trip out, to find the whole structure enveloped in flames. When relief sounded just before seven, the kitchen was ruined, the dining-room was nothing but a shell. A nickel-in-the-slot music box lay on the floor, mute beyond the help of any nickel.

Chief Emerson estimated the loss at $5,000 to $6,000. In the charred ruins nothing could be found to give a hint as to the probable cause, and state inspectors were called in to satisfy legal requirements.

Follow the Specifications

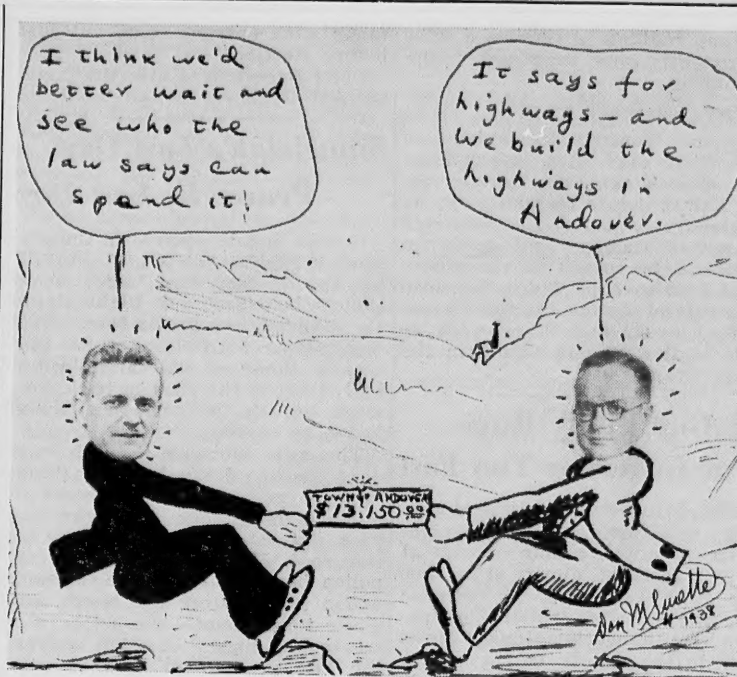

An incident came up at the recent school board meeting which would seem to demand an addition to the duties of the local building, wire and plumbing inspectors. It was reported at that meeting that a business man had complained that a fellow business man was not following the specifications on a job on which he had outbid his competitors, and naturally it being a lay committee, there were no members really qualified to examine the job to see if the specifications were lived up to, or whether something cheaper had been substituted. The same situation occurred a year or so ago when a roofer complained to the selectmen that the firm roofing the Richardson school was not following specifications.

Specifications should be lived up to, in order to be fair to the town and to be fair to the other bidders. If a man bids on a job, gets the contract by reason of a low bid, and then substitutes inferior materials he is not playing fair with the town or with the other men who bid on the higher specifications with the obvious intention of following them. And a board which passes over such matters lightly is not playing fair with the town, either. There's only one thing to do, and that is to have the various town inspectors make frequent visits to town contract jobs in process, not merely to see that statute requirements are lived up to, but also to see that the board's specifications are followed rigidly.

Only One Way To Save Themselves

If a vote were taken in Andover today on license, and if the voters could vote on (1) restaurants and on (2) package stores, the result would be a decided "No" on the first, a decided "Yes" on the second. When Andover first voted license four years ago, there probably wasn't a liberal-minded person in this town who wouldn't have been proud to see Andover prove itself big enough to carry on the liquor business in a way that would do the town justice. Today they look back on the experience, and they can say truthfully: "The three package stores and the light beverage package stores have done a splendid job, but the restaurants haven't."

That would be the vote today, after a few incidents which aren't what we like to think would ever happen in a town like Andover. What the vote will be in November no one knows, but this much is certain: that the fifteen or twenty men who frequent the Main street in a not too stable condition, are plunging the restaurants, if not over, at least dangerously near the brink of "No license." It would be well for these licensees to get together and for their own interest as well as the town's, to draw up a good long black list of their own, of names of men who will not be allowed to buy a drink in Andover. This is the only thing now that might help them to another two years of grace given to them by people who don't mind moderate drinking but who do mind the guzzling that inevitably results in public drunkenness.

A check for $13,150 from the state as Andover's share of the gasoline tax refund was eagerly grasped by Selectman Shepard who ordered town treasurer Eaton to deposit it in the bank, until such time as town officials could learn what the law was all about. Now having learned, it has been agreed to leave it in the treasury until March, unless the special town meeting shall decide otherwise. The law made approval of projects by the selectmen a necessity.

Siftings

We'd like to suggest, in view of his car's jaunt through Andover last Sunday night, that lieutenant-governor Kelly adopt as a campaign slogan: "You can't stop Kelly."

The only good Tydings the president received this week was that his son James had recovered from his operation.

We're still glad that we have the Atlantic on one side and the Pacific on the other.

Drunkenness Case

The police took in one local drunk on Tuesday evening, releasing him on Wednesday morning. He had come up Essex street staggering from side to side and went into a non-license restaurant from which he was evicted. Officer Waldie saw him lying on the sidewalk, and brought him in. A former public works employee, he had been injured and was out of work suffering from a bad back. It was his third night in the local cellblock this year.

Leon and Ola Gray have sold their eight-room home at the junction of South Main street and the By-Pass, to Albert Cornier of Charlestown, Mass. The sale was made through the Fred E. Cheever Real Estate Agency.

Mrs. Margaret B. Tate has returned from several weeks spent at East Hiram, Maine.

Mark Golden Wedding At Scene Of Marriage

Back on September 12, 1888, Rev. N. H. Martin, the then pastor of the Vale Methodist church, performed a little ceremony in the parlor of a house on Marland road, uniting in marriage Miss Sarah Fallows, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Fallows of Ballardvale, and George Reed Moody, son of Mr. and Mrs. Almon Sylvester Moody of Dascumb road. Mr. and Mrs. Moody set off for the Old Orchard camp meeting for their honeymoon, and the later years found them moving about from place to place as Mr. Moody, Y. M. C. A. secretary, railroad telegrapher and machinist, finally became Rev. Mr. Moody. Many communities in the Bay State and in Maine for the next thirty or forty years heard him from the pulpit on Sundays.

Last Monday the setting was the same little old parlor on Marland street. The two principal characters were the same, too, Rev. and Mrs. George Moody. But Rev. Mr. Martin had passed on, and time had given to the happy couple five children, three of whom are now living and two of whom were present Monday at the golden wedding celebration. They were Robert Moody, Professor at B. U., and George Moody, director of the training school at Salem State Teachers'. Dwight Moody, research engineer for Bell Telephone in New York city, was unable to be present. A large number of friends came to wish the couple health and happiness in what they hope will be many more years of life together.

Mr. and Mrs. John Carlson and Miss Ada Carlson of Highland Wayside spent the week-end with friends cruising Vineyard Sound.

A. Burnett Carlson of Highland Wayside has accepted a position as accountant with the Monsanto Chemical Company in St. Louis.

Weddings

Lowe-Maxwell

Albert Lowe, son of Mr. and Mrs. John E. Lowe, 49 Balmoral street, and Miss Margaret Jean Maxwell of St. Petersburg, Fla., were united in marriage Sunday by Rev. George F. Beecher, D. D., at the Balmoral street home. Miss Mildred Lowe, sister of the bridegroom, was maid of honor, and his brother John Lowe was best man.

The bride's gown was of royal blue transparent velvet with accessories in harmony and she wore a corsage of orchids. Miss Lowe's gown, of the same material, was black, and her corsage was of talisman roses.

Following a reception the couple left for Florida where they will spend the winter.

Obituaries

Miss Emma L. Ault

Funeral services were held on Monday afternoon for Miss Emma Louise Ault who passed away on Sunday evening at the home of her nephew, motor vehicle official Ralph Karch on Haverhill street. Rev. Mr. Noss conducted the services. Burial will take place today in Lebanon, Pennsylvania.

Among the survivors is a sister, Mrs. Minnie Karch of Shawsheen.

Ellen Sullivan

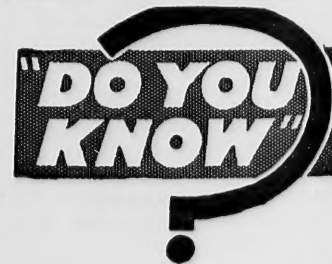

A solemn high mass of requiem was offered yesterday morning at St. Augustine's church for Ellen Sullivan, longtime resident of Andover who died Monday at her home, 99 North Main street. She leaves a brother, Joseph A. Sullivan.

Printer Dies Suddenly While On Way To Work

James Quinn of Walnut avenue, job pressman for the Andover Press for 14 years, collapsed this morning on High street in front of the Hall residence, dying almost immediately. A steady, conscientious worker, he was on his way to the printery when he was stricken. The ambulance was summoned, but he was beyond aid.

Mr. Quinn was 56 years of age. He formerly lived in Lowell. Surviving are Mrs. Quinn and a son, Brendon.

John McIntosh, son of Dr. and Mrs. J. J. McIntosh of South Main street left Wednesday for the University of Syracuse. He will enter as a freshman.

Which house in Andover did Samuel Francis Smith write "America" in, did George Washington have breakfast in, did James Otis get killed by lightning just outside of, did General Lafayette speak from?

(Answer on back page.)

Fuel Pump Trouble Damages Rear End

Bertrand L. Putney of Boston stopped for the lights at the junction of Union and North Main streets on Monday night about ten. The lights changed, and Mr. Putney proceeded on toward Boston, conversing with his front-seat passenger, David Bennett of Brooklyn, N. Y. Suddenly Bennett yelled: "Look out!" Before Putney could halt or swerve his car, he had ploughed into and under the rear of a huge oil tank truck, parked by the side of the road a little the Andover side of William street.

Mr. Putney, who had been doing the talking, was unhurt. Mr. Bennett, who gave the warning, received a fractured right thigh. Mrs. Joseph Miller of Boston, sitting in the rear seat, suffered a head abrasion.

Officers Arthur Jowett and George (Lt.-Gov.) Waldie proceeded to untangle the facts and the wreckage, the former proving the easier task. Putney told his story as above, adding that he couldn't have been going more than 25 miles per hour. The tank operator spoke of having trouble with his fuel pump, and he had pulled alongside the road to have it repaired. He was sitting in the cab of his truck while a mechanic worked on the motor when the car went in under. Officer Jowett surveyed the scene, noted the two flares aside the truck as required by a law which went into effect that day, noted that the tail-lights probably had been on before the other car smashed into them, noted that the rear of the tank, painted white, was plainly visible in the light from a street light at the corner. Then when the Shawsheen Motor Mart had pulled the wreck away from the truck, he saw that the car had been stopped five feet under the rear when the bumper hit the dual wheels. The shackle bolts were all broken off.

And the mechanic had come just to fix a fuel pump!

Dr. and Mrs. William Emmons of Boston will return to Andover on September 28th to live, with Dr. Emmons planning to start practice here at 89 Main street as an optometrist. Both Dr. and Mrs. Emmons were former local residents, Mrs. Emmons being the former Marjorie West.

PLAN TRAFFIC ISLAND FOR WILSON'S CORNER

State Senator Frank D. Babcock dropped in yesterday to report that Commissioner Callahan is planning to widen the stretch between Wilson's corner and the by-pass in the spring. Negotiations are now underway for the taking of some land at the restaurant at the corner. A traffic island will probably be constructed there. J. Augustus Remington of the local safety committee attended a recent hearing on the matter.

Fireman Weds Daughter Of Deputy Fire Chief

Miss Margretta Mary Hilton, daughter of fire department deputy chief and Mrs. Lester C. Hilton, and William Gordon Coutts, newest addition to the fire department, were united in marriage Monday noon by Rev. Charles W. Henry, former rector of Christ Church, at All Saints' Church in Chelmsford. Relatives and intimate friends attended.

The bride was given in marriage by her father, and the attendants were Miss Ruth Hilton, sister of the bride, and Walter Pearson, brother-in-law of the bridegroom. A royal blue velvet gown, with hat in harmony, and a bouquet of white roses, were the bride's choice for her costume, and her sister wore navy blue with white accessories.

Following the ceremony a reception was held in the Shawsheen Manor. The couple are now enjoying a wedding trip to Detroit, Mich. They will reside at the home of the groom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. David Coutts of Elm street.

Baked Potatoes Cause Damage To Barn

Baked potatoes, the kind you put in an open fire out in the woods or in the picnic grounds, are usually pretty much charred before you finally decide to see what's left of the inside, but not until last Friday afternoon was there ever a case of a baked potato charring a barn. Firemen responding to an alarm found that children were baking potatoes, a spark set fire to hay and grass, the fire spread to a barn on the property of Philip Gaudet, 17 Cuba street, damaging the corner.

Thrown Stone Injures Boy's Eye Severely

The condition of John H. Grecoe, Jr., son of the well-known local jeweler, was reported as being good yesterday at the Massachusetts Eye and Ear Infirmary in Boston where the youngster was rushed Friday after having been hit in the eye with a stone.

For a while it was felt that the youngster might lose his eye. Nothing definite can be determined, however, until the swelling decreases.

GRANGE ENJOYS PROF. QUIZ PROGRAM

Andover Grange No. 183 met in Grange Hall on Tuesday evening. After routine business was transacted the social hour of the evening was in charge of Joseph Dennis. The first number was a Prof. Quiz program, with Mr. Dennis as the professor and Roland Trauschke as timekeeper. Acrobatic and tap dances were given by Miss Virginia Berthill of Lawrence. This was followed by a talk on the General Welfare Act by Arthur Brown of Lynn. The Dramatic Club will hold their first fall meeting September 22 in the Grange Hall.

RUMMAGE SALE TO BE HELD SATURDAY

A rummage sale for the benefit of the Lowthorpe school of Horticulture at Groton, of which Mrs. John G. Coolidge is president, will be held on Saturday afternoon from 11 to 5 at the old Hayscales at the end of the Common, North Andover center. Furniture, clothing, antiques, books and other articles will be on sale.

The committee: Mrs. Coolidge, chairman; Miss Agnes Brooks, Miss Betty Downs, Mrs. John D. Leland, Miss F. H. Stevens, Miss Kate H. Stevens, Miss Harriet S. Smith, Mrs. Walter Whitehill and Miss Mary E. Rockwell.

NAMED TO VALLEY COUNCIL

James E. Greeley, well-known local grocer, has been named to the Merrimack Valley Food Council which will have charge of the enforcement of the new act which in effect prohibits merchants from selling some basic items below cost in order to attract customers into their stores. It is claimed that the loss was usually offset by higher prices on other commodities.

For Representative

William Beaulieu

William Beaulieu, candidate for the Republican nomination for representative, has issued the following statement: I ask your support in the primaries for the following reasons: I will stop wasteful expenditures of money, I will advocate a pay as you go policy, I am not a politician, I have no entanglements of any kind, I will guarantee to protect your interests at all times in order to reduce your tax rates, I have no enemies to punish or friends to repay. I am opposed to the policies of the so-called New Deal, with its fads, fancies and follies which are creating an economic condition which will be disastrous to us all. I am a working man, born in Lawrence, and I feel that my friends feel also that with my experience I am fully qualified to represent you in an honest, upright manner. In the event of my election, I will be at your service night and day.

For Congress

That he expects to win the nomination for Congress in this District is the opinion of Dr. George W. Eastman of Lynn. He bases his prediction on a careful analysis of the various sections of the District and upon the reports of Republican leaders who are interested in his candidacy throughout the section.

1. He says that the principles laid down by the founders of the nation must not be forgotten or laid aside by any political smoke screen.

2. The doctor reaffirms his faith in the Constitution of the United States and he is firmly opposed to any slipshod interpretation of this document by a group of visionaries and half baked economists who have studied just enough to lose their common sense and not enough to get it back again.

"An industrial district such as ours," he says, "requires of its representatives the ability and vigor to prosecute the battle against the invasion of foreign made articles produced by coolie labor at starvation wages in direct competition with the labor of this district."

"For the present let me state that I favor and will work for a liberal and workable old age pension in so far as the country's resources will allow, am a firm believer in an honestly conducted Merit System in the Civil Service, favor a protective tariff of American made and particularly on New England made products and am unalterably opposed to one sided reciprocal trade treaties, wherein other countries get our shirts and we simply get a sun tan."

GENERAL WELFARE CLUB TO MEET

The General Welfare club will meet next Thursday evening at 8 at the home of Mr. and Mrs. James G. Thomson, 42 Summer street. Last Sunday the club held an outing at the camp of Mr. and Mrs. George York at Cobbett's pond, with Mrs. Ella Hanson assisting the hostess in serving a delicious fish chowder at noon. Boating and swimming, in addition to games, were enjoyed prior to an evening lunch.

ACCIDENT PREVENTS TENNESSEE TRIP

An auto accident in Albany, N. Y., recently prevented Mrs. Howard E. Bredbury of Binney street and Mrs. Thomas Bredbury and Edith Bredbury of Lowell street from going on to Tennessee. However, although all were shaken up, Miss Edith Bredbury took a trip to Havana, Cuba, and the other two members of the family came home.

Parish Carnival To Continue Three Nights

The Parochial school grounds last evening saw the opening of the annual St. Augustine's parish carnival, with its many attractions for the carnival-goer. It will continue tonight, tomorrow night and Saturday night, with the grand cash awards to be made the last night. Included among the features are: food tables, blanket tables, novelty tables, cane racks, punch boards and grab bags.

Sends Two Heifers To Aid Grenfell Mission

Rosa Burke Snow Posch and Glen Soldene Jetske Maid could have been providing milk to be delivered daily to Edward Shattuck's customers, or to be converted into ice cream to be sold at the old house up on River road. But instead they're on their way up north, aboard the auxiliary schooner George B. Cluett, bound for Dr. Grenfell's Labrador. The two heifers' particular mission will be to aid in the stamping out of tuberculosis in the settlement.

Practical Arts Teacher Wed During Summer

When High school practical arts teacher, Emil Keller returned to Andover this fall after studying at the Massachusetts State College in Amherst this summer, he brought with him his new bride, the former Ruth Parker who had been teaching home economics at the Keene Normal school. The ceremony took place on June 27 at the bride's home. The couple are living at 137 Main street.

For County Commissioner

Frank L. Floyd, selectman of Manchester, is a candidate for the Republican nomination for County Commissioner of Essex County. He states: "This position spends a large amount of the people's money and cares for many of the people's needs. It therefore requires a man of experience."

"I do not believe any of those now running excel me in experience and training. The public offices I have held include: Town Clerk, Planning Board, Chairman Board of Health, Selectman and Representative in the General Court, where I served as an active member of the Committee on Counties."

He is married and has one daughter. He belongs to the Odd Fellows, Masons, Sons of Union Veterans, and many other clubs.

Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Boutwell of Plymouth, N. C., are visiting Mr. Boutwell's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Boutwell of Shawsheen road.

For Sheriff

A former Andover boy, Harold E. Larkin of Haverhill, has been waging an intensive campaign for the Republican nomination for sheriff. He spent his early days in Andover, and was one of the Andover boys enlisting with Battery F, serving through every engagement of the YD division as one of the youngest non-commissioned officers. An active member of Haverhill and Essex county Republican clubs, he also belongs to the YD veterans' association, the Haverhill Legion and the V. F. W. posts, Forty and Eight, Masons and Elks.

He states: "It is my intention if elected to fulfil my duties as county sheriff and to see to it that any positions that may come under my control are equally distributed throughout the county. It is necessary that a candidate against whom no criticism can be made shall be the standard-bearer of our Republican party."

Center right: This doesn't look unusual, but it is. In the first place it's the girls' volley ball team in the Vale, and they're unusual in that they don't know how to get defeated. Secondly, the girl, Muriel Fone, at the left on the front row, wasn't in the picture when it was taken. Our enterprising young photographer, Donald Surette, took her picture later and pushed her right into the front row, shadow and all. Thirdly, the fellow down at the end, the team's coach, is our photographer, Donald Surette, and he took the picture himself. Yes, he set a self-timer, dashed into line, and then the camera clicked. That's why the girls are laughing: they're looking at the birdie, but no cameraman. The girls are: front row: Muriel Fone, Margaret M. Kidd, Lillian Bisset, Marion Peatman, and another Margaret Kidd; back row, Shirley Anderson, Hazel Downs, Mary Cur-
